

What to include in the web game?

A brief feasibility study was done to decide what features to include in the project. Trade-offs between usefulness and entertainment, and constraints of time and skill level were important in deciding which features to include and which features to leave out (at least for now).

Only the main features of the game were considered in this study.

